Congratulations on starting a new chapter of your life! One day when you are older, you will look back at this time of your life and realize this is a huge turning point for you. The subjects you study and the career you are heading towards, the friends you make and keep, the life experiences you choose to have or choose not to have…your options are limitless! Breathe in the freedom of endless choices and life paths. Explore. Think. Be you and seize the day! Even if it gets tough, keep moving forward. There are little tricks in the system, like dropping tough classes before they get on your record. Make some friends, learn the tricks, study really hard, stay healthy, and don't get into trouble. You can handle this. And don't forget, I'm only a call or a text away. Good luck with your first year of college!
